

WNY Young Writers' Studio

APRIL/MAY NEWSLETTER

A Tribute to Sarah Hanson

If you would take, you must first give, this is the beginning of intelligence. ~Lao Tzu

Studio began in the summer of 2008 in a tiny little classroom on the campus of Daemen College. I recall desks that were too big for our littlest writers, an elevator that was too small for the rest of us, and the exact weight and measurement of every crate, box, and bag we hauled up and down those stairs at the end of each day.

I remember how thrilled I was to be working with young writers again, how much it meant to have my own children and some of my favorite colleagues writing and learning beside me, and how grateful I was to my friends and my husband for helping me get things off the ground that year.

I also remember Sarah.

Sarah Hanson was one of the very first WNY Young Writers' Studio fellows. She came to us that summer brimming with ideas for a novel that she wanted to finish, a friend from her home town that she wanted to encourage as a writer, and plans to become a NeXt correspondent. Over the years, Sarah contributed significant creative perspective to our program. She served as a mentor, and her experiences and feedback have helped us consider how we can continue to grow and improve our work together over time. She also set the tone for how we welcome, support, and sustain one another at Studio. As a founding fellow, Sarah consistently gives more than she ever receives, and we are all better writers, friends, teachers, and leaders because of her influence.

In a few short weeks, Sarah will graduate from high school and begin a new life as a college student. Niagara University has no idea how lucky they are to have her. In the coming weeks, I hope you will reach out to Sarah to congratulate her on all that she has accomplished and to thank her in very specific ways for all that she has done for you and for our community.

Thank you so very much for everything, Sarah. I am so proud of you and so proud to know you.

Love,
Angela

PLEASE CONFIRM YOUR PARTICIPATION IN OUR ANNUAL CELEBRATION OF WRITERS IN PROGRESS!

Our Annual Celebration of Writers in Progress will be held on May 19th from 10am-12pm at Union East Elementary School in Cheektowaga, New York. During this time, teachers and writers from both Studio locations will showcase their learning by leading mini-workshop sessions focused on specific strategies, resources, or tools that have helped them in their work.

This is a very low-key, informal event that allows all of our fellows to share what they know with their peers in very small groups of about 4-6 members. Each session lasts about 10 minutes, and the day ends with the recognition of all Studio fellows, the distribution of our anthology, and a special tribute to the teachers and the mentors who work so hard to make our program worthwhile. It's a wonderful way to end our season, and we hope that all writers, parents, and friends will attend.

During our March sessions, writers worked with Angela and Betsy to prepare for this event in ways that make them comfortable. Parents received notes at home about the content of each writer's session and what, if anything, writers will want to prepare for the event. The time structure for the day and locations were clarified as well.

Please email me to confirm your attendance and the topic of your child's mini-session, as I know that many often change their minds a few times. If kids still need help, I can provide that too. This RSVP is very important, as we want to ensure that writers have the support and space they need to share what they know in meaningful ways. We also want to make sure that all who come are properly fed and recognized for their year of hard work. I look forward to hearing from each of you by May 10th. Please email me at stockmanangela@gmail.com THANK YOU!!!!
